Duty is also often perceived as something owed to one's country (patriotism), or to one's homeland or community. Civic duties could include: Obey the law; Pay taxes; Provide for a common defense, should the need arise; Enroll to vote, and vote at all elections and referenda (unless there is a reasonable excuse such as a religious objection, being overseas, or illness on polling day)

The duty and its source. The lawyer-client relationship has historically been characterised as one of confidence. This duty also constitutes part of the broader foundation for lawyer's fiduciary duties to their clients.. Rationales for the duty. The maintenance of full and frank disclosure between lawyers and their clients is the main justification for the duty of confidentiality.
